

ALERT

Act now before it's too late!

Fights For Your Rights

Lacey Act amendments could destroy your options for pets, right to travel with animals, and your businesses. Your voice is needed to stop this injustice!

What would the Lacey Act amendments do?

- A ban on interstate transport and importation of every species currently listed as “injurious” would be enacted, even for species that could not survive in most of the U.S.
- A new “emergency designation” would be granted that would allow species to be classified as “injurious” without due process, justification, or prior notice.
- Only a limited number of species named to a “white list” (not yet written) would be approved to enter the U.S.
- All animal species are threatened by this, including reptiles, fish, birds, amphibians, invertebrates, and mammals (everything aside from dogs, cats and traditional livestock).

What can you do?

- Visit the link or scan the QR code below for directions
- Call, mail, fax, and email your members of Congress
- Share this alert in your communities
- Encourage others to join the fight

Learn more and contact legislators:
www.usark.org/2022lacey
It's easy!